DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 5, 14, 23 and 31-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The recitation of sodium carbonate as a catalyst in the oxygen generating reaction is not described in the instant specification. Page 6 indicates that sodium-based compound or hydrated salt can be included with the catalyst for heat absorption, but the specification does not recite sodium carbonate at any point and does not support the catalyst activity of such.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 1744

Claims 1-4, 6-7, 9-13, 15-16, 18-20, 22, 24-25 and 27-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Moore et al., U.S. patent publication No. 2005/0022810. Moore et al., teach an apparatus for generating oxygen with a vessel for an aqueous oxygen generating solution and a humidifier. The apparatus includes means for fluid communication between the oxygen generation vessel and the humidifier. Oxygen is generated with sodium percarbonate mixed with water and a catalyst such as manganese dioxide. See paragraphs 17, 26, 28 and 32.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 5, 14, 23 and 31-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Moore et al., as applied to claims 1-4, 6-7, 9-13, 15-16, 18-20, 22, 24-25 and 27-30 above, and further in view of Ueno U.S. patent No. 4,683,130.

Art Unit: 1744

Ueno clearly teaches recognized application of sodium carbonate in conjunction with a catalyst such as manganese dioxide in a chemical reaction for oxygen generation. See particularly column 2, lines 5-45.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to employ any recognized means for oxygen generation in the system of Moore et al., such as that including sodium carbonate as taught in Ueno which acts cooperatively with the same catalyst taught by Moore et al.

Terminal Disclaimer

The terminal disclaimer filed on 2/21/2007 disclaiming the terminal portion of any patent granted on this application which would extend beyond the expiration date of any patent granted to any of U.S. patent applications 11/158,377 or 11/158,618 or 11/158,648 or 11/158,696 or 11/158,865 or 11/158,867 or 11/158,958 or 11/158,993 or 11/159,079 has been reviewed and is accepted. The terminal disclaimer has been recorded.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-7, 9-16, 18-20, 22-25 and 27-33 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

It is noted that the subject matter of Moore et al., including the presence of the humidifier, is fully supported by the parent provisional application 60/477752 filed 6/9/2003.
